How will your complaint be handled?

Mountain Transit Authority investigates complaints received no more than 180 days after the alleged incident. MTA will process complaints that are complete. Once a completed complaint is received, MTA will review it to determine if MTA has jurisdiction.

Mountain Transit Authority will generally complete an investigation within 90 days from receipt of a complaint. If more information is needed to resolve the case, MTA may contact you. Unless a longer period is specified by MTA, you will have ten (10) days from the date of the request to send the requested information. If the requested information is not received MTA may administratively close the case. A case may also be administratively closed if you no longer wish to pursue it.

After an investigation is complete, Mountain Transit Authority will send you a letter summarizing the results of the investigation, stating the findings and advising of any corrective action to be taken as a result of the investigation. If you disagree with MTA's determination, you may request reconsideration by submitting a request in writing to MTA's Manager within seven (7) days after the date of MTA's letter, stating with specificity the basis for the reconsideration. The Manager will notify you of the decision either to accept or reject the request for reconsideration within ten (10) days. In cases where reconsideration is granted, the Manager will issue a determination letter to the complainant upon completion of the reconsideration review.

Do I have other options for filing a complaint?
